She received an email from Steve O'Donoghue, Director of California Scholastic Journalism Initiative, suggesting that we support the addition of journalism courses as a requirement for a credential to become an English teacher.

She reported sending letters to the award winners, CDE, legislators; writing the President's message in the conference program and California English.

Berry received an invitation and attended a meeting in Sacramento to be a part of the Joint Committee on Instructional Materials which discusses legislative issues adoption, funding, etc. It meets three times a year. She asked for a volunteer to attend the next meeting. Delfino offered to attend the meeting in Sacramento, June 8th.

Commendations were given to Larry Jordan and Carol Jago for their NCTE Awards, the Convention Committee, the Convention Coordinator, and Convention Consultant for all their dedicated work.

Reminders for convention included a flyer for the convention schedule. It is expected that Board members will sit with constituents during meal events except for the Saturday banquet. A clarification was made that reserved tables are for award winners and their council representatives.

Hospitality suite is room #801 – All Board members are invited to welcome and greet speakers and award winners one-half hour prior to each meal function.

The By-laws need many corrections. Berry asked for a subcommittee to meet with P. Fristrom who will chair the subcommittee on the Friday night before the May board meeting. The corrections will be approved at the September meeting and printed in the California English. They will be brought to the February convention for approval. Volunteers to serve on the subcommittee include P. Fristrom, Rippee, Delfino, Chapman and Williams.

SECRETARY – Report is ONLINE

Tracey asked that the board directory be reviewed and updated. She also announced that the edited CATE Board Policies had been updated and printed and were available on the table.

TREASURER

A. Fristrom reported the following:

Checking Account balance	$68,458.48
Memorial CD	$10,724.69
Marilyn Kahl Memorial CD	$5,179.64
Marilyn Kahl #2 CD	$10,759.17
Vanguard GNMA Portfolio	$141,901.08
Vanguard Index Trust	$34,997.67

Fristrom also reported that many purchase orders are still out for the convention registrations, therefore reporting the income for this convention will not be given at this time. In the report of the budget at the bottom of the left-hand column included $649 in interest on the Certificates of Deposits. Interest on Certificates of Deposit has increased.

In the expenses column, the item of credit cards expenses comes from the costs of the use of credit cards for membership, registration for this conference, Promises Practices, etc. Therefore, income is reported as being better, the money is the same except how it is reported. We are $1,000 over as registrations are continually coming in.

The Board was reminded that reimbursement for mileage is 40 cents a mile, ½ of the room is covered and dinner is reimbursed at $10.

MEMBERSHIP – Report is ONLINE

Williams reported that membership has dropped depending upon what's happening. Currently convention numbers have not been included.

Hockensmith was commended for the Powerpoint presentation which will be placed for viewing in the membership booth. He again reminded councils to send pictures from events at councils to be included in the Powerpoint presentation.

Cirimele was commended for packaging the bulbs to be distributed at the membership booth. A new poster was shared which listed the councils with their location on a California map. Williams asked for board members to sign up to work in the membership booth and especially asked membership committee members to do so.

CONVENTION COORDINATOR

Hase commended the local convention committee for an incredible job, and particularly in getting sponsorships for the convention.

Rooming assignments for this convention were difficult. Commended Burke who posted the deadline for hotel reservations on CATENet. The hotel extended the deadline and 200 rooms were picked up. Difficulty with the server occurred and Hase handled hundreds of emails. The CYRM speaker canceled, so it was important to acquire a new speaker. Millie Lee, an author, is the new speaker. Prentice Hall sponsored Billie Collins. CWP reception is also sponsored by Prentice Hall.

There are about 80 booths in the exhibit hall and in addition colored ads were placed in the program. Board members are encouraged to thank exhibitors especially when delivering the invitations to the exhibitors' reception. Berry thanked Chapman for the certificates he created to give to the sponsors.

Registration at the time of the meeting was 741 with strong meal counts. The trend for this convention appears to be the packages. 492 tickets have been purchased for the banquet. Online registration closed February 6th and registrations have continued to come in. The Convention contract for 2008 is still pending waiting for the removal of the attrition clause. Four proposals have been received for Convention 2012.

The last purchase order for previous conventions was finally paid. All districts assume that we have a fax. Perhaps we need to acquire a fax.

CONVENTION CHAIR - Report is ONLINE.

Sahakian held up the beautiful completed convention program which included highlighted tech sessions, Starbucks coffee house strand, etc. She reported that there would be two posters highlighting the coffee house strand available at key locations. The wine tour and Armenian dinner have wrapped up. FACET and McDougall Littell co-sponsored the pre-convention and the McDougall Littell also sponsored part of the wine tour. She reported the shuttle tour bus to Fig Garden Village tonight will be waiting outside of the hotel convention entrance. Certificates were available for discounts at the Village and some were good until Sunday.

Stuffing the bags was completed Tuesday night. There will be many bags left over. They will be available for the New Teacher reception. Twenty or more student teachers will be assisting in various areas. Twelve retired teachers will be managing the registration desk. A request was made to provide coffee for them tomorrow morning. The request was referred to the Convention Committee.

There is an autograph schedule in each bag. The green sheet is the errata sheet. Hospitality times and board schedule are on the red card. Discussion regarding screens and projectors helped finalize plans. Sahakian thanked Hase, P. Fristrom and A. Fristrom for their help and cooperation.

PRESIDENT OF PRESIDENTS' - Report is ONLINE.

McAninch reported that council caucus breakfast was discussed. She asked if extra copies of the resolutions could be provided at the breakfast so they may be shared with attendees and then encourage them to attend the annual business meeting.

REPORT OF LIAISONS

CDE - Goodwin reported that her printed report is on the table for the board to pick up. She encouraged someone from CATE to participate in supplemental materials committee even though it focuses on K-8 issues. School and Library survey and Improvement Block Grants are important issues. Secondary literacy summit will be held March 26-27. Jago will present a three-hour seminar. Alan Sitomer, California Teacher of the Year, is also a presenter. Council on Curriculum and Instruction Steering Committee has a report ONLINE. Special needs students needs to be addressed. Three documents are to be part of the rollout of the new Reading Language Arts Framework.

Leadership conferences on the Early Assessment Program: Expository Reading and Writing Course are scheduled for June 20 and 22.

Goodwin asked for input from the board for secondary literacy demonstration sites. She has received none at this time.

Policy Analyst - Diaz reported on highlights of the education budget as proposed by the governor. He is maintaining the baseline budget for K-12. Aren't many new programs proposed but it maintains existing programs

It includes additional allocations to the CTA lawsuit settlement, additional bonds for schools and higher education, facility repairs for schools and child care.

He is strong on career/tech education. We will continue to see emphasis on that.

He feels we need to strengthen the ease for teacher credentialing and will probably see legislation for that soon. He plans to improve the School Accountability Report Card and provide more money for the Program Improvement Management System and CAHSEE study guides.

One program he is trying to address is the teacher shortage. Professional retirees are to be considered. He is proposing an INCORE PROGRAM to attract retired engineers, etc. with a 1.5 million partnerships with school district and CSU.

Diaz included an attachment which lists when appropriated monies will be sent out by the Department of Education.

There are three areas of contention: declining enrollment – there is nothing in the budget to deal with it; finding money to cover the mandates – there is no discussion beyond 2007-8 and the issue of funding for special education. There is not a full COLA for special education. Diaz mentioned select committees and standing committees are different. She is sure legislation for school dropouts will be addressed.

State Superintendent of Education's address included staying on course, to not change what they are doing now, there are many successes that the public knows about, and more students passing CAHSEE.

He acknowledged that there is an academic achievement gap and plans to convene an education summit in November. He asked the governor to include in the budget the student data system and teacher data system.

School finance would also be looked at.

Diaz reported a few years ago he had convened an advisory committee. The report of that committee has been released but only to a select group. They have kept it under wraps. It will be released to the public sometime at the end of February.

There is a list of bills that have been introduced so far. By the next board meeting a complete list should be available.

CYRM – Report is ONLINE.

California Writing Project – Marlink reported CWP pre-convention is going well. A present was distributed to the board: Parent booklet, Because Writing Matters, translated in Minh Pham. The Russian translation is next. Then the translation in Hmong or Chinese will follow. Attendees seemed pleased. There is a satellite strategy to connect teachers to writing projects particularly because new writing projects will not be funded but working with NWP they can connect current projects with un-served areas by satellite.

CLRP – Jago reported that the directors were encouraged to attend CATE because their meeting had been rescheduled.

California English - Bill Younglove shared artwork by Raphael Lemkin who became orphaned in the World War II atrocities. He is to be featured in April CE featuring a call for literature of atrocities. Jago reported the March issue has been completed.

CATEweb – Report is ONLINE

CATENet - Burke indicated CATENet is a fluid entity. Enrollment continues to grow, about 5,000 at this time. But there are additional readers because members forward items. Issues lately include responses to an article by Nancy Atwell. It has been pleasantly non-contentious. The listserv has over 5,000 email addresses. Because anyone can sign up to the listserv, spam issues have arisen. It generates addresses to go out and find addresses. He finds that in editing the listserv, it has become a large time element.

CCCC - Younglove reported that at the February 23 and 24 meeting, a member of the school board association will speak in Sacramento.

CTA - No report

Rippee will contact NCTE for a two-week extension on submitting paperwork for these awards. (Perhaps this should be discussed at the December board meeting in the future)

CATE 2007 Professional Writing Contest Prompt

As increasing numbers of teachers become persuaded that nonfiction deserves a more prominent place in the curriculum, it seems a good time to reflect upon the nonfiction books that have shaped our own thinking, learning, and teaching.

Write an essay describing a nonfiction book that had a powerful effect upon you. It could be a book you read as a child or one you read last week. It could be a historical account, a memoir, a professional book, a self-help book or any other work of nonfiction. Reflect upon how this text has influenced your thinking and your teaching.

Membership: WILLIAMS, Tracey, Hernandez, Karpowicz, Surabian, Danielson, Griggs, Dillon, Cirimele, Johnson, Marlink, Hockensmith

Invitations will be distributed to presidents of councils to invite membership chairs to the meeting on Friday who are attending the convention in Suite 801 at 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. The membership chair will present information about the membership reports and other services that Precision can provide.

Assisting at the membership booth will be based on the schedule of when workshops are presented. Please sign up. We need people who are not attending meal events to cover during meals.

Williams reviewed what will be in the membership booth to jazz it up. Flowers, Luncinda pins, the Powerpoint presentation, etc.

Discussion regarding retaining members followed. Perhaps comparing last February list with current list. Those members who have not renewed could be contacted personally by councils. Suggestions were made to design a form letter to send to them as a starting point. Danielson offered to share one she has written and sent to members whose membership had expired. Postponed idea for CATE 2008 gift until the May meeting.

Questions were asked regarding adding membership to workshop registrations. Williams presented a form that was used previously. A small conference book was designed and it has not been found.

CATE reminder cards: When you renew, a letter from Williams should come too. When your membership is almost up, a reminder card from Precision is sent. If you don't renew, a second reminder card is sent, when membership is about to expire. A suggestion was made to add the California English logo on the renewal postcard. Remove some of the verbiage and encourage renewal online. "Teachers supporting teachers" statement could be added as well. Williams will contact NCTE membership chair for a copy of her letter. The item of grant writing was tabled until the next meeting.

Executive/Finance: DELFINO, A. Fristrom, P. Fristrom, Smith, Hase, Rippee, Sahakian, Dunstan, Allen, Medford, Zaragoza-Diaz, Berry

1. Look into the cost of installing a fax machine including a separate phone line for the use of the Convention Registrar.
2. Since the cost for registering for the annual convention has not increased in several years, a proposal for such an increase will be presented.
